ABOUT ME

I am a Java backend developer. I love new technologies, innovations and new challenges in IT. Learning new things is my favorite job. I'm into problem solving, which is what I do every day to solve some problem while working, and I'm a math lover. After I get a deep knowledge of Java, I create a team to carry out projects. Now my team and I are developing several start-up projects. I have strong communication skills combined with experience.
